KEMPSTOWN JUNIOR HIGH

THE MANY MOMENTS WE SHARED SEEMED FEW

SCHOOL

When I was a BRAVE —
I was then — and am —
One of many,
Talented, Happy, Alive,
Changing,
Maturing,
Part of a school.

This school is Kempsville Junior —
The home of the BRAVES.
And I was just one among over 1850
others.

AS WE

ourselves become involved,
We welcome new people to join us.
By participating,
We slowly,
Emerge from one group and Join others.
We realize the potential that we have
By working together within many small groups
Rather than just one.
We gain interest in other ideas and values.
Through unity, our goals are crystalized.
And we learn to appreciate one another.
I saw the moments slowly slipping away
While around little really changed.

are chosen with caution
For experience acknowledges their fallibility.
A single friend can influence a better attitude toward life.
And friendships need not be confined to students.
A rapport between students and teachers furthers our initiative.
Age is no longer a factor

In the acquisition of friends.
Truthfully extending the self to others,
Accepting people for what they are Creates the foundation for a lasting friendship —

BRAVES together

I come back now to find much the same situation I had left,
For although many things are different,
Little has changed inside and Only the diminishing moments have made a difference.

FRIENDS

ATHLETES who were,

Reckoning with failure,
Expanding loyalties,
Surging with joys,
Radiating vitality,
Activating sparks of spirit,
Developing initiative,
Increasing cooperation,
Testing Strength,
Emulating heroes,
Riding high on victory,
Grasping for acclaim,
Resounding competition.

. . . And here come the Kempsville Junior High Braves which were

Straining vocal cords,
Taking a field trip,
Basking in success,
Recognizing academic expectations,
Accenting the important,
Providing firm foundations,
Interplaying ideas,
Widening spheres of intellect,
Continuing high standards,
Searching for the unanswered,
Buzzing with activity,
Exercising mind and body.

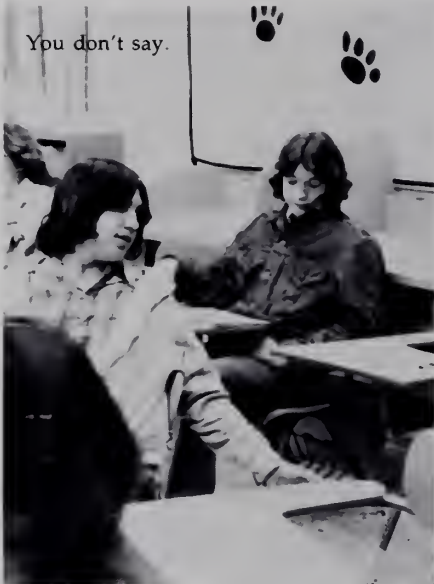

What comes after three?

Give me a kiss.

You don't say.

You forgot to take the price tag off.

Shhh! Don't tell anyone we are hiding guidance.

Did you win or talent?

Hey girl!
That's my locker.

Those are not my foot prints on the wall.

Are the test answers over there?

Guess who?
Which twin has the toney?

All smiles.

I can't remember the answer for #5.

Did the bell ring?

Let me see if I can help.

Let me out

I can draw a straight line.

Put a little here.

Quick — What's the answer to #4?

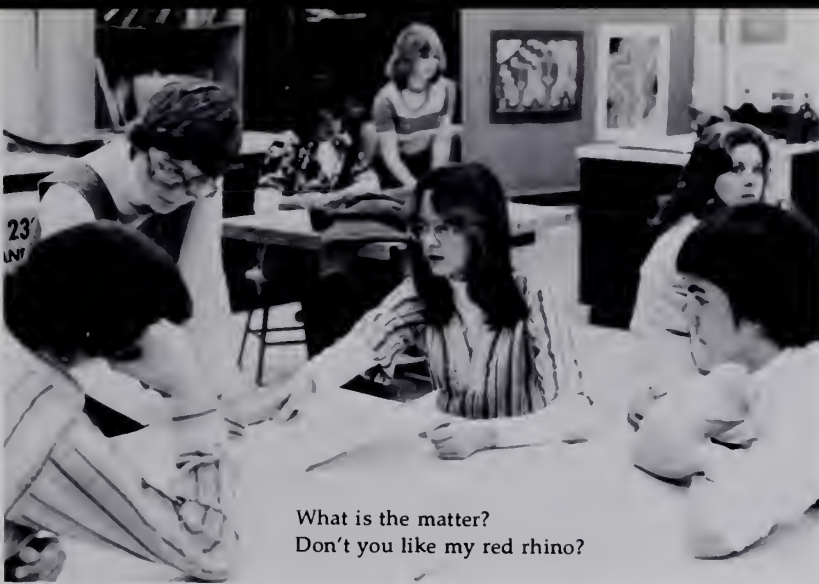

Whistle while you work.

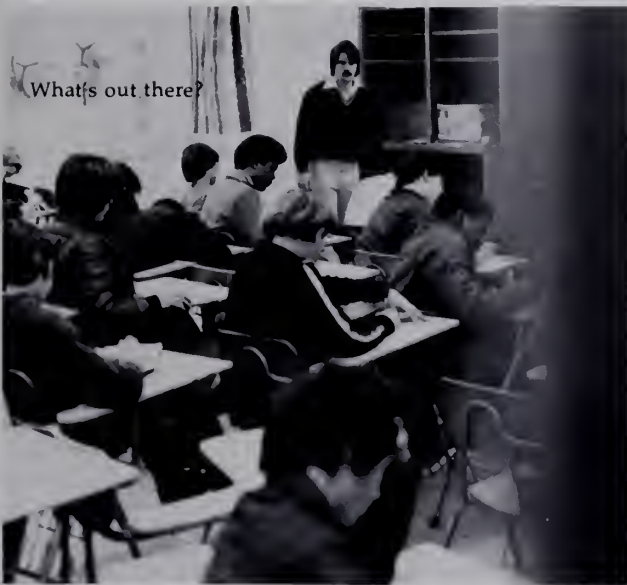

Mom told me there would be days like this!

What is the matter?
Don't you like my red rhino?

What's out there?

Leave me alone!

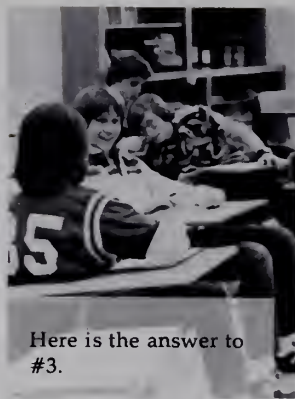

HELP!!!
Mrs. Clark, where is the "ON" switch?

Now if I can just remember how to turn it on!

Who's in there?

Here is the answer to #3.

Put your right foot in and take your left foot out.

Somebody stepped on MY paper.

Trust me! I haven't done a thing.

How do you erase watercolor?

Yep, my feet are still down there.

So this is what office work is really like!

Burnt is beautiful!!

Excuse ME,
Mr. Pace.

This outfit doesn't quite fit right!

What is it?

Knit one . . . Pearl two . . .

Guidance has a comic book to suit everyone.

More, please!

. Where's the dotted line?

Hey man, I don't trust this gadget.

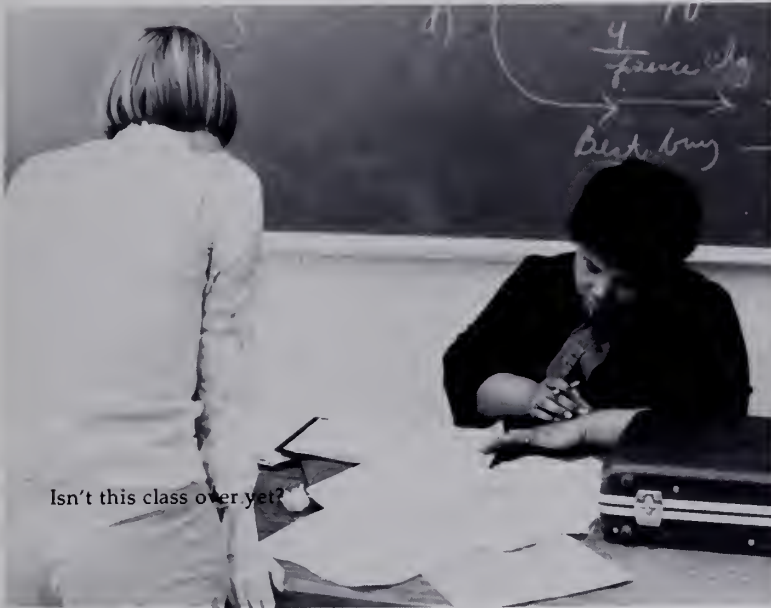

What is your career choice?

Oh NO!
I forgot to turn off my oven!

On top of Old Smokey.

Isn't this class over yet?

Hey, get back there and finish our write up.

Who do we rip off next?

You don't say.

You gave me the wrong answers!

You drank it all?

HELLO

I muffed it again.

You drank it all?

Smile for the photographer.

You see, I didn't forget to shave my legs
this morning.

Hey!
Let me in on the fun.

I wonder what they have been up to?

The latest in Gym fashions.

Miss Clair,
Where is the compone?

Let me see the comic

A New World Is Opened To Eighth Graders

Approximately 900 students became initiates in the traditions of Kempsville Junior High School as they entered its doors for the first time as eighth graders on September seventh. Braves became their name and blue, gold and white their colors.

Involvement became their motto. Many ventured to try their hands and contributed their talents in many activities.

Mr. Kenneth Lumpkin

Supervision of over 1800 students, eighty-five faculty members, and numerous office and custodial personnel can prove to be an ominous task to some. But to the administration of Kempsville Junior it can be very rewarding.

Despite the busy days, they find the time to discuss plans, projects and problems with both faculty and students. They are often seen between classes or after the dismissal bell talking with any student who takes time to stop by.

SEATED — Mr. Charles Caldwell, Principal STANDING L-R — Mr. William Vick, Asst. Principal; Mr. Robert Griffin, Assistant Principal Administration; Mr. Kenneth Lumpkin, Assistant Principal Instruction.

I

stand in stoic amazement
 Within this school —
 A world I have come to realize
 Will shortly be a past phase.
 I found a friend,
 And the world seemed right.
 I learned
 To share other's burdens and I worked
 In tune with their minds and emotions.
 I know now
 That together there is love —
 Love that does not tire
 For love holds its own.
 It has all become memories —
 Moments at Kempsville Junior
 Where I, too, have become a past phase.

Continuation

The hands of time reach outward to the world
Indicating a departure once more Junior High days become a part of A cherished memory deep in the heart,
And a final reflection comes to mind
This is neither a strange, new beginning,
Nor an abrupt and tearful finale,
This is only a continuation
Of what we have been inspired to achieve,
A life of prosperity and meaning.

K.R. Wilson

As time goes on, we may never pass this way again, but

The Moments We Shared

shall never be forgotten.
